

Future Identification

A researcher, as a user of the taxonomy, may construct the preparation and its photo database in each laboratory. When the taxonomical database will be established on Internet, it would be possible to find the taxon candidates to each preparation. Then the preparation database will be able to act as another kind of identification keys for particular region or sample.

